

PLEDGES SUPPORT TO FARM PROGRAM

G. O. P. Nominee for Governor Declares for Tax Reduction, Religious Liberty and Budget System

JACKSON SPEAKS AT PARK

Shows Saving of Money in Secretary of State's Office—Sees Victory for Party in State

Pledging himself to cooperate to the fullest in the development of a program for the betterment of conditions in agriculture and repeating his declarations for tax reduction, religious liberty, better roads and schools and an effective budget system, Ed Jackson, secretary of state and candidate for governor on the republican ticket, addressed a large audience at the Memorial park coliseum Friday evening.

His address preceded an automobile parade, led by the New Salem band, from the court house to the coliseum. The candidate and his party were met at Manilla by a local reception committee and escorted to Rushville.

Clen Miller, county chairman, introduced George E. Neary, a Pennsylvania conductor of Logansport, Ind., who entertained the crowd about fifteen minutes with campaign songs and a sketch he called the "Pumpkinvine Limited."

Mr. Miller also introduced Fred Bell, president of the Rush County Farm Bureau, who presided and introduced Mr. Jackson. Mr. Bell announced the appearance of the United States Marine band at the coliseum next Wednesday and urged everyone to attend, not alone because of the opportunity to hear the celebrated band, but because the proceeds above expenses will go to worthy organizations.

"This crowd is an indication of what the G. O. P. will do in the coming election," the county chairman said in opening the meeting. It shows that the republicans have their heads set on victory and there does not now appear to be any doubt about the success of the ticket from the head on down to the last man. That's the way we republicans do things."

After announcing the coming of the U. S. Marine band and calling attention to the value of the work done by the Rush County Child Welfare association, to which three-fourths of the net receipts go, Mr. Bell spoke of the value of restoring to usefulness children who would become charges of the government and making them good citizens.

"There are too many people who do not respect that flag," he continued pointing to a flag on the stage, "and I admire a man who will resign a public office and go to the front for its protection. The man who did this has not been found wanting as secretary of state, as the figures in his office will show. It was said of Abraham Lincoln that he was a man of the people and it may also be said of Ed Jackson, as was demonstrated in the primary when he received more votes than all of the candidates for the nomination against him."

"I am happy for the opportunity," declared Mr. Jackson, in opening his address, "to return to the splendid county of Rush and the city of Rushville and to be greeted by such an audience of people who have found it convenient to come out and hear the issues of the campaign discussed."

Referring to problems of the farmers of the state, Major Jackson said "everything possible must be done to restore this basic industry to a permanently profitable basis. I do not claim to know the exact solution of this great problem. I hope, if I am permitted to do so, to cooperate to the fullest extent in carrying out any plan or program that may be determined upon that gives reasonable promise of bringing about the desired results."

In opening his address, Major Jackson declared that President Coolidge has the full confidence of the people. "He stands steadfast for that which he believes to be right," he said. "He stands for the best interests of the country, and I am happy in the belief that we shall see a complete republican victory in Indiana and in the nation. President Coolidge has declared that the people want a government of common

O. M. REPERT IS SUED

Mineral Supply Company Files Action in Stech's Court

The Mineral Supply company of Washington C. H., Ohio, have filed suit in Justice Stech's court on two complaints against O. M. Reppert, who is alleged to be their local agent. One suit demands $78.60 and the other is for $147.39 judgment. The actions involve alleged transactions with the firm. The cases have been set for trial October 30, one being at 9 and the other at 10 a. m.

The evidence was heard by Justice Stech in the matter of Delos Baldridge against Ira Long, in which judgment was rendered on an account for $43.03 and costs. The affidavit filed with the suit alleged that the defendant had left his home in Arlington for the purpose of defrauding his creditors, and the court sustained the affidavit, and entered judgment by default.

SHENANDOAH IS SEEN OVER COUNTY

Navy Dirigible, Enroute to Lakehurst N. J., From Pacific Coast, Sighted by Many People

HEADS EAST TOWARD DAYTON

Passes Over Southern and Eastern Edge of the County, Changing its Course Near Glenwood

(By United Press)

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 25—Local radio stations shortly before noon today picked up a message from the Shenandoah indicating that the big dirigible was near Cincinnati. The dirigible was cited over Springfield, Ohio, at 11:15 a. m. and Dayton, Ohio, at 11:45 a. m.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 25—The U. S. Naval dirigible Shenandoah passed over this city at 5:30 a. m., today, flying low. She was evidently shaping her course for Dayton above the Ohio river.

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 25—The navy dirigible Shenandoah is expected to arrive here this evening but probably will not land until after dark, it was said today, following a message from commander Landsdowne aboard the airship.

The navy dirigible Shenandoah, enroute to Lakehurst, New Jersey on the return trip from the Pacific coast, passed over southern and eastern Rush county this morning.

Many Rushville people got a good view of the sausage-shaped airship as it moved in a northeasterly direction south of Milroy, up over New Salem and Orange, and swinging straight east about the time it was in the vicinity of Glenwood.

The first word coming to Rushville regarding the appearance of the dirigible was in the form of a telephone message from D. C. Alter of Orange township, to the Daily Republican.

At the time Mr. Alter called, the Shenandoah was about over New Salem, traveling northeast.

It did not appear to be making very good time, but some Rushville men who started east in an automobile at the rate of 55 to 60 miles an hour, soon concluded that it must be traveling 65 or 75 miles an hour, as it gained on them. They had hopes of getting under the giant dirigible, but had to abandon them, especially when the Shenandoah swung straight east at Glenwood and began gaining on the automobile.

John Ed Harrison, who lives three miles east of Milroy, said that the Shenandoah passed over his farm and that he could hear the hum of the motors plainly.

Mrs. John F. Ryan at Orange said that the dirigible also was seen over Orange very plainly and then it was heading towards Connersville.

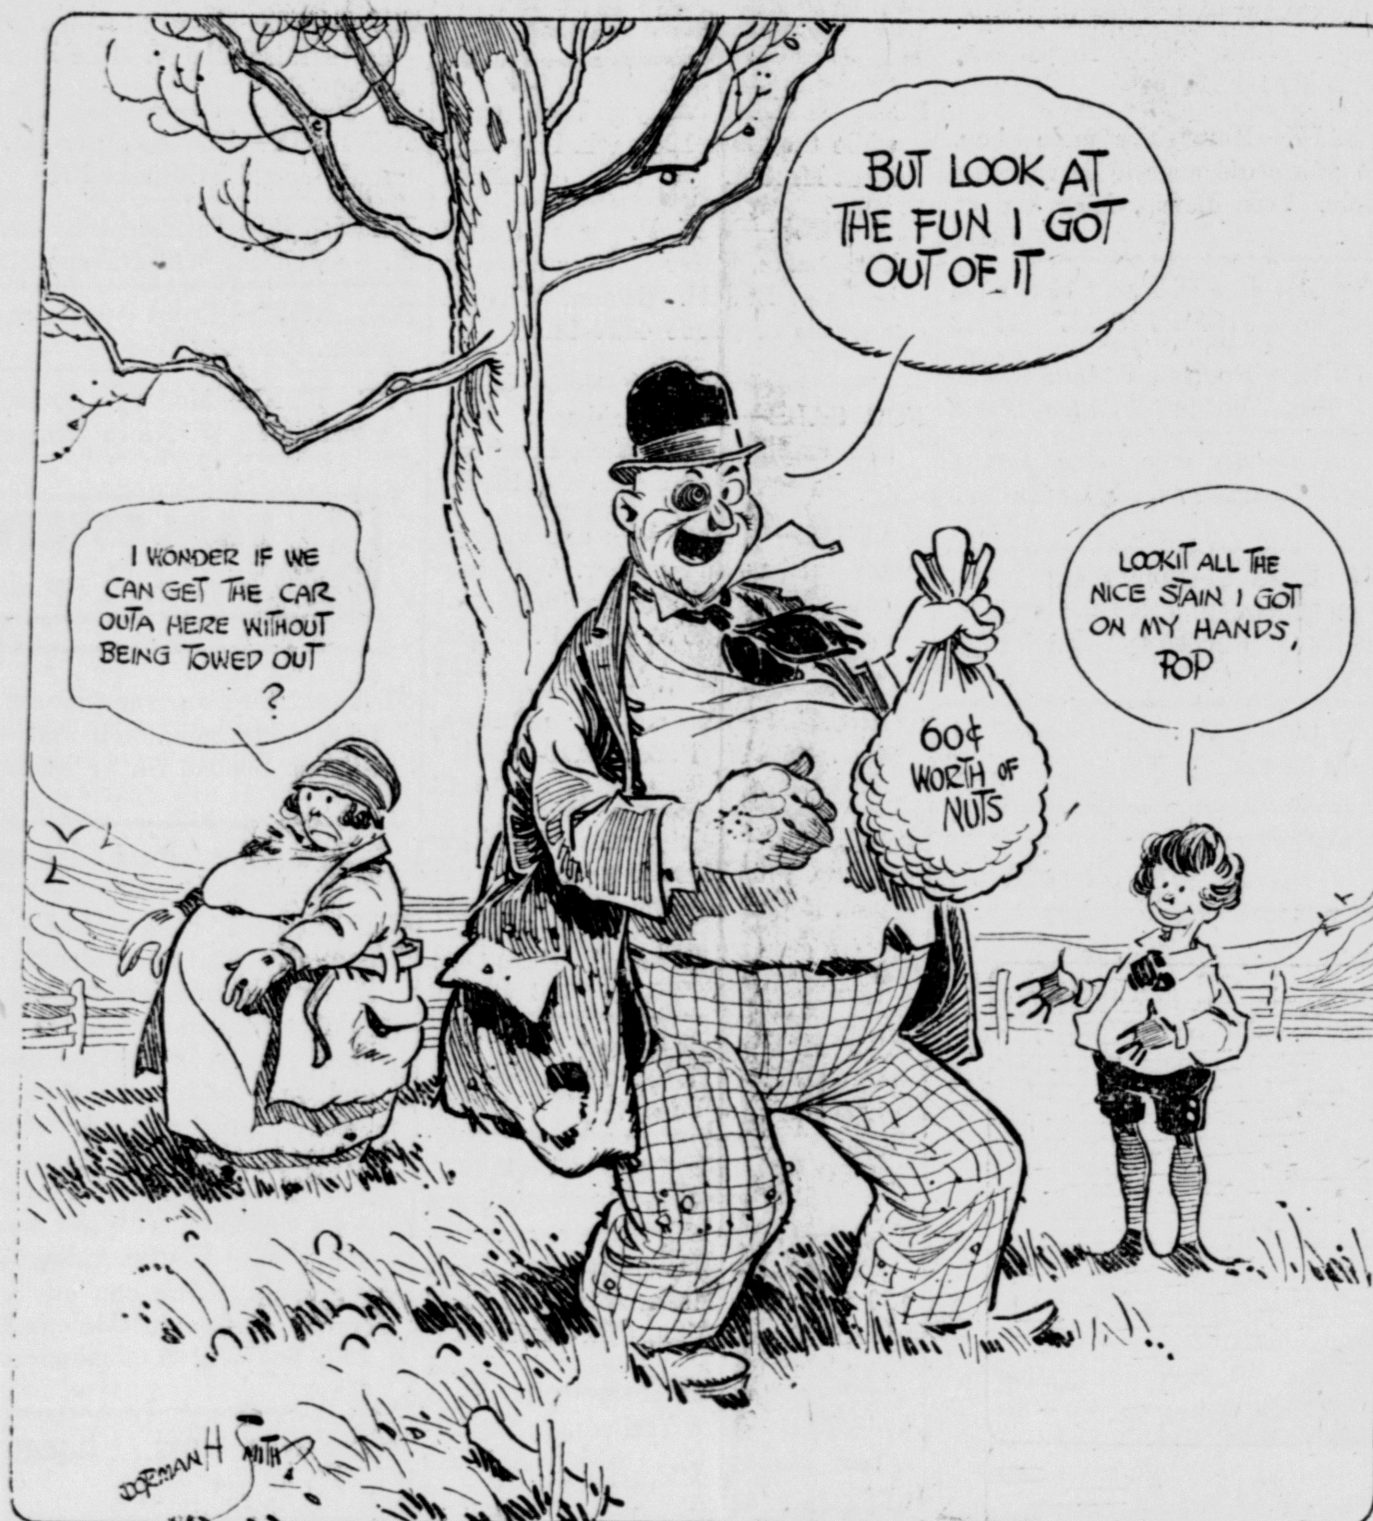

The Shenandoah was due to pass over Dayton this morning and evidently was starting there when it changed its course east of here.

THE NUTTIEST SEASON OF THE YEAR

Cornet and Trombone Soloists Will Assist in Night Marine Band Concert

Principal Musician Arthur S. Witcomb, With Organization 19 Years, And Principal Musician Robert E. Clark, Who Plays Trombone, Both Skilled and Talented Artists. Leader Santelmann Most Liberal Conductor in Matter of Encores.

The evening concert of the United States Marine band at the Memorial Park coliseum next Wednesday night at 8 p. m. will be opened with the famous "Jubilee" overture by Weber, one of the best known compositions of its class, and one which taxes the band to the utmost in its interpretation. Anything written by Liszt must be accepted at its par value, but according to some musicians Liszt put a side of his nature not visible in his music such as the Hungarian Rhapsodies into his nocturnes that rank them high in the portrayal of the dreamy tendencies of the Master of the Piano. Therefore the next number, a nocturne by Liszt, entitled "Dream of Love" will be particularly interesting. The first soloist of the evening's entertainment will be Principal Musician Arthur S. Witcomb, probably the best known cornet soloist in this country today.

He will play a number which will give him ample opportunity to show the wonderful capabilities of the cornet, as well as his own skill on the instrument—a polka brillante, "Willow Echoes," by Simon. Musician Witcomb has been with the Marine Band for a period of nineteen years and during that time has assisted at every notable demonstration held in the National Capital. Only recently, he journeyed to the last resting place of the young son of President Coolidge, where he sounded "taps" over the grave. Witcomb, before coming to the Marine Band, played in the world-famous Coldstream Guards, officiating at the funeral of Queen Victoria and at the coronation of King Edward VII. Musician Witcomb is regarded by competent critics as a master of his chosen instrument, with a remarkable purity of tone and accuracy of phrasing and execution. Just before the intermission Hosmer's "Ethiopian Rhapsody" is replete with bizarre effects and quaint melodies, will be offered.

Following the intermission the immortal composition of Leoncavallo, the Prologue to "Pagliacci" will be played. This number needs no introduction to musicians, and its beauty appeals to almost every taste in music. The second soloist on the program is Principal Musician Robert E. Clark, who ranks on the trombone with Witcomb on the cornet. The trombone has at times been compared with the cello as contrasted to the cornet with the violin, and Mr. Clark's accomplishments on this instrument enable him to bring out every one of its many perfections. He has been with the Marine Band for fourteen years and is well known as one of its prize soloists wherever the Band has formerly played. In the National Capital he is one of the favorite soloists. Mr. Clark is not only an instrumentalist, but he is also a composer as well, and on this occasion will play a number written by himself and entitled "May Blossoms." Those who expect to hear him may rest assured that they will have an opportunity for hearing the resources of the trombone as a solo instrument tested to their full capacity.

A number that is well known but at the same time ever new, is the Weber-Wingartner arrangement of the "Invitation to the Dance." The piece as played by the Marine Band is peculiarly adapted to a brass band, and was transcribed especially for

COMMITTEE WORKERS MEET MONDAY NIGHT

Major W. B. Sowers, State Commander of Salvation Army, Will Explain Local Campaign

LONG EXPERIENCE IN ARMY

Committee chairman and all of their workers are urged to be present at the court house assembly room Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock when the campaign to raise money to support the Salvation Army for the next twelve months, will get under way.

Major W. B. Sowers of Indianapolis, state commander of the Army, who has general supervision over all of the corps in southern Indiana, will speak to the workers regarding the Salvation Army and supplies for the canvass will be provided.

Major Sowers has been an Army officer more than thirty years and is familiar with the organization. He took the regular training college work in Chicago and has been a corps officer and divisional officer.

It was announced today that Captain Earl Myers, who was recently placed in charge of the Rushville corps, had been required to give up the work for the present on account of illness. Envoy Ray Parsons has been assigned to Rushville and took up his duties today.

43 CHILDREN CARED FOR DURING THE YEAR

Rush County Child Welfare Association, Beneficiary of Band Concert, Does Laudable Work

DEFECTIVE CHILDREN CURED

The Rush County Child Welfare association, to which three-fourths of the net receipts from the United States Marine Band concert will go, has been engaged in welfare work among underprivileged children for several years.

During the past year, forty-three defective children have been improved in health through the ministrations of the organization, which is constantly on duty, ready to find a way to cure children with defects which would probably make them charges of society when they grew up.

The association pays a physician to take a physical record of every child in the Rushville public schools, and has a representative in each township which goes into the schools and locates the children with defects, who have no prospect of being cured without outside aid.

Members of the association go to the homes of defective children to seek the consent of parents before any preparations are made to affect a cure. In many instances, they find that parents are opposed to surgical operations and even object to glasses being placed on their children, against the advice of physicians and optometrists.

The forty-three children who have been given treatment and operations during the past year include tonsillectomy, denistry, hernia, special nurses and treatment in the Oliver clinic at the Robert Long hospital, Indianapolis.

One child is taken to Indianapolis on the average of once a month for treatment for double curvature of the spine. Several are also taken to an anti-syphilis clinic for treatment.

The association has found homes for approximately two dozen children during the past year. There are nine waiting now for tonsil operations.

SPEAKS TO COAL MINERS

Jasonville, Ind., Oct. 25—Campaigning in the coal mining district of Indianapolis to prevent defection of laboring votes to the La Follette ticket, Charles W. Bryan, Democratic vice presidential nominee, last night told coal miners here that the Democratic party is the only one to which they can look for reform.

CLASS PLANNED FOR DEC. 4

Modern Woodmen Arrange For Initiation and Rabbit Supper

An interesting meeting was held Thursday night by the local modern woodman camp, at the Modern Woodman hall, at which it was decided to hold a class adoption on Thursday night, Dec. 4, to be followed by a big rabbit supper.

At the meeting 4 applications for membership were accepted by the camp. They were secured by Ralph Harrold, special deputy who is organizing the class, and who asks that any member who has a prospect to get into communication with him.

Different locations for a home were discussed at the meeting and it is expected several propositions will be submitted to the camp in the near future in this matter.

UNABLE TO AGREE IN SUIT FOR $25

Jury Disagrees in Case of John F. Joyce Against Chester M. George and is Discharged

ASKS FOR A RECEIVERSHIP

Albert Ficklin Files Suit Against Earl Young, Demanding $750 Judgment on a Note

The jury in the circuit court Friday was deadlocked in their verdict in the case of John F. Joyce against Chester M. George, and after being unable to agree, they were discharged late Friday night.

The case was tried once before in Justice Stech's court, and a verdict for $25 rendered the plaintiff for attorney fees in a former litigation. The defendant appealed the case to the circuit court, where it was again heard yesterday before a jury.

Albert Ficklin has filed suit against Earl Young and Elsie Young, demanding judgment for $750 on a note and for the appointment of a receiver. The parties reside in the vicinity of Glenwood, and the action alleges that the defendants are insolvent, and that a receiver should be appointed to manage their business.

A few court matters are set for hearing Monday, and included in the court business for next week are several matters pending in probate cases involving reports and settlements of estate and guardianships.

There was little business scheduled today in court. The jury used yesterday will probably not be used again this term of court, which ends November 8.

Orie Blackburn, chief of police, has filed suit in circuit court against Sanford Heaton, asking that a guardian be appointed for the defendant. The action was taken by the police officer upon numerous complaints of people who demanded that some action be taken to watch after the interests of the defendant, who is charged in the petition with being incapable of managing his affairs.

Questions to be Answered At M. E. Church Sunday Night

In the prelude to sermon at the St. Paul's M. E. church Sunday evening the following questions will be answered:

Who are the "wets" in the list of candidates for the coming election? You spoke of "personality" in your sermon last Sunday evening, will you please define the term?

Why do girls leave home? Is it wise to follow the fashions? Has dress any relation to character and conduct?

There will be special music, Miss Beulah Phillips will sing. The topic of the sermon will be "The Girl in Society versus the Society Girl."

CONDEMNS DISHONESTY

Paoli, Ind., Oct. 25—Dishonesty in public office, whether by Republican or Democratic incumbents, was severely denounced by Former Senator Beveridge here last night. "The Democratic party would make you believe it has a monopoly on the public virtues as a result of the oil scandal in Washington," Beveridge said. "No party has a corner on all the scoundrels."

CONGREGATION AT HANNEGAN HOST

Christian Churches of the County Will Meet There in all Day Session Thursday

The county conference for the Christian churches of Rush county will be held next Thursday at the Hannegan Christian church near Sexton, it was announced today, and a corps of speakers will be here.

This county is in the eastern district of which V. P. Brock of Newcastle is the evangelist. George C. Wyatt of this city is president of the county church organization.

The meetings have been scheduled in every county in this district for next week. The conferences are made inspirational, instructive and helpful in every way possible. Time will be given for music and for the young people's interest. A great evangelistic program will be planned for the coming year.

The speakers at the conference next Thursday at Hannegan will be Ben Holrood of China, G. I. Hoover of Indianapolis, Mrs. O. H. Griest of Winchester, Miss Florence Carmichael of Indianapolis, and V. P. Brock of Newcastle.

The program will be divided into an all day affair, beginning in the morning, and continuing throughout the afternoon and night, with a basket dinner at noon.

A complete program and other matters of interest pertaining to the conference are being prepared, and will be announced next week.

PYTHIANS TO DISCUSS STATE HOME PROJECT

Roll Call Meeting Monday Night Will Afford Oppertune Time to Explain K. of P. Home

RUSHVILLE BIDS FOR IT

The plan of establishing an Indiana Pythian home will be explained Monday night to the membership of Ivy lodge, Knights of Pythias, and special invitations have been sent to all members urging them to attend the meeting, which also will be the annual roll call for the Rushville lodge.

On account of the roll call meeting, at which time it is expected that a large representation of the lodge will be there, it was decided also to be a good time to explain the plans for the state home, and the possibilities of locating it in Rushville.

The lodge at the state convention held recently at Indianapolis voted to locate a home someplace within the state. The home will house orphans of deceased Knights of Pythias, and also be a home for aged members who have no other means of livelihood.

A committee was appointed at the convention to secure a location for the state home, and report next October. In the meantime the project of locating the home in Rushville will go forward, and for this reason, it is important that all of the lodge members turn out Monday night for the roll call meeting. A smoker and light refreshments will be served, it was announced.

Minneapolls Spring bran $24.50, spring middlings $26.50; 34 percent linseed meal $45. Chicago gluten feed $40.80; yellow hominy feed $38.50. Memphis 36 percent cottonseed meal $36.50. Sixty percent digester feeding tankage at various markets $60.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Weakness in butter markets earlier in week gave way to a firmer feeling at the close. Principal support confined to fancy grades, with medium and undergrades no more than steady. Storage situation continued to be an important influence. Production holding up remarkably well. Foreign markets lower. Exports light.

Closing wholesale prices on 92

score butter: NY 38; Chicago 37; Boston 37; Philadelphia 35. Cheese markets developed a somewhat unsettled feeling during the week and prices declined half to one cent. There appears to be a tendency toward an increase in storage surplus since the first of the month as a result of slow business. This together with heavy fall production, and the influence of an unsettled butter market has offered little basis for confidence. Wholesale prices at Wisconsin primary markets October 23; Twins 18; single daisies 17; young Americas 18; Longhorns 18; square prints 19.

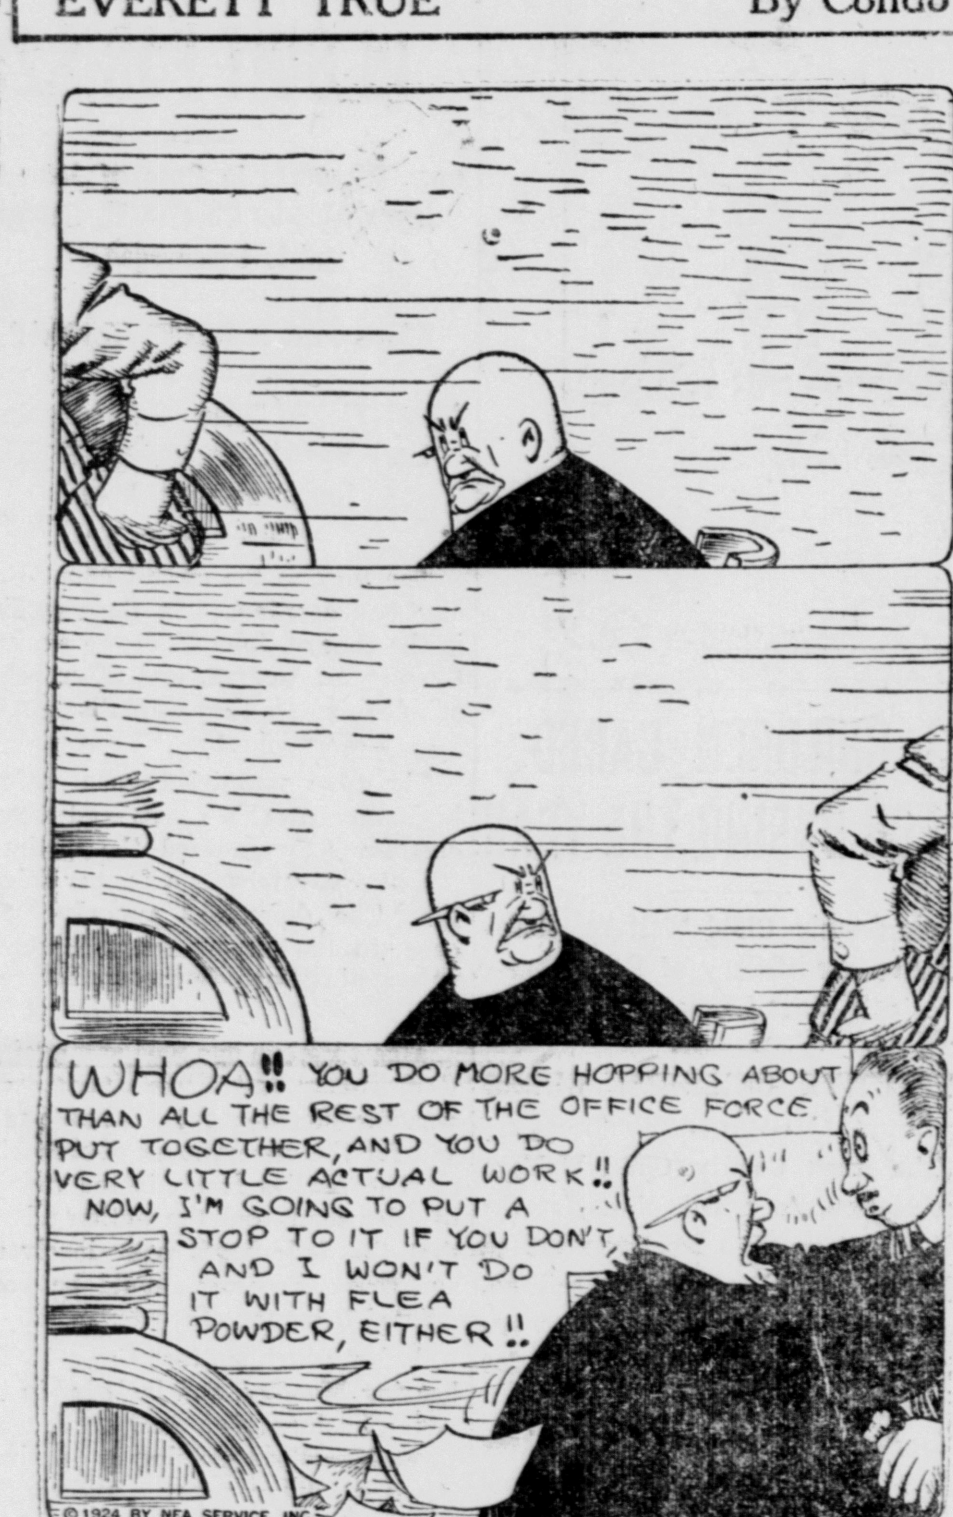

COTTON—Average price of middling spot cotton in 10 designated markets advanced one point during the week, closing at 22.39c per pound.

NEW PAVED MILEAGE WILL BE OPENED ON STATE ROADS SOON

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 25.—Pavement construction on several major state roads has progressed to a point when considerable new mileage will be opened to traffic within the next few days, John D. Williams, state highway director, announced in the commission's traffic bulletin today.

Mr. Williams said that pavement is completed on No. 22 between Indianapolis and Martinsville and will be open the entire distance about November 7. He called attention that owing to bridge construction there will be three short detours on this road until early in December when bridges will be completed.

The commission expects to open No. 1 to a point some 18 miles north of Kokomo on Monday, October 27. There will be one detour in this section due to bridge construction. The structure will be completed early in December.

On No. 6 southeast of Indianapolis there only remains three quarters of a mile of pavement to lay, and the new hard surface road will be open to traffic between New Bethel and Shelbyville about the middle of November. It is not likely that work on any bridges in this section will start this winter. However, the contractor may insist on starting one bridge, and in this case a detour will be necessary. Otherwise traffic will go straight through this year, Williams said.

Marion county has completed paving from the city limits to the county line connecting with State Road No. 15, and this pavement will be opened to traffic about the middle of November.

Road conditions for the week of October 24-31 are set forth in the bulletin as follows:

No. 1—Pavement from Indianapolis to 7 miles north of Kokomo with two roadside run-arounds at bridge projects near the Hamilton-Tipton county line. Take marked detour 7 miles north of Kokomo via Bunker Hill account construction between Kokomo and Peru. South of Indianapolis detour via Dudleytown between Seymour and Crothersville account construction near upper Muscatatuck river. Detour between Perry and Sellersburg, and just north of New Albany account street construction.

No. 17—Constructing one bridge between Kendallville and Waterloo, run-around, also run-around west of Kendallville.

No. 19—Detour at west edge of Tipton account bridge out.

No. 22—Thru traffic use No. 12 between Indianapolis and Martinsville as 22 is being paved. Local traffic using parts of completed pavement. Closed between Oolitic and Bedford account street paving, detour rough. Construction south of Paoli. Avoid if possible. Bridge project south of Haroldsburg.

No. 24—Construction between Palmyra and Salem, detour via Fredericksburg for Paoli. (New Albany and Louisville traffic detour via Pekin and Martinsburg coming out on Road 5 at Greenville.)

No. 25—Use new pavement from Lagrange to a point 6 miles west then detour 3 miles to avoid construction, detour fair. Roadside run-around at bridge 8 miles east of Michigan City. Run-around at bridge construction 8 miles east of Angola.

Faith in the People

President Coolidge, in his last
speech of the campaign which will be radio-cast throughout the nation,
demonstrated again that he has faith
in the people of the United States;
that he believes in their Americanism
and their devotion to the highest
ideals of government, and that he is willing to rest his case with them on the record of the administration.He placed before the people of the country his plans for the future of the nation. He described in direct,
honest language his desire that the
peoples of the world might live in peace and harmony; that they might turn from the pursuit of war to a course that would bring the greatest good to the universe.In the matter of economy, President Coolidge emphasized the necessity for economy in the expenditure
of the people's money and pledged
himself to continue the path he had entered upon when he became president,—namely that of saving the money of the taxpayer.President Coolidge has been the only president in the history of the nation that forced a portion of the taxes to be given back to the taxpayer, and he stated in terms which could not be misunderstood that a further reduction of taxes may be
had if the present plan of economy in public expenditures and the present rate of income continues.The president dwelt at length upon the benefits of protection, showing how it was the direct cause of maintaining a far higher rate of wages in this country than in Europe. He pointed out that under our system of
protection, every man, woman and
child in this country today is blessed
with a far higher standard of living

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service WriterWASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Now would seem to be a fine time for the practice of that
"economy" and "common sense" in government which one hears so much about but sees so little of here in Washington.Tied up at the Philadelphia Navy Yard is the partially completed dreadnought Washington, one of the largest and most costly ships
ever laid down by the United States navy.A fighting ship of 32,600 tons designed to carry eight 16-inch guns, some $20,000,000 were spent
on her before the conference on
limitation of armament listed her,
because incomplete, among the
vessels to be scrapped by Uncle Sam.Now it is announced that the Washington is to be sent to a watery grave off the Virginia capes in December at the annual navy maneuvers and target practice.She will be used as a thing to drop bombs on, a mark for gunners to fire at, until she fills with brine and goes down.WHILE Uncle Sam is permitting the navy to use this
great hulk, containing thousands of tons of steel and materials
that would repay many times the cost of salvaging, even for sale as scrap, as a target for a forenoon's
"demonstration," the British government, also following a policy of
"economy," is spending hundreds
of thousands of dollars in raising
the German warships sunk off Scapa Flow in order that the materials in them may be salvaged.One or the other of the two governments must be "out of step"
with the economy tune. If it is worth the British government's
while to raise, at great expense,
the hulks of the scuttled German
fleet for the materials they contain, certainly the thorough salvaging of a ship already tied up beside
a construction pier ought to yield
equal savings.than the peoples of the other nations of the world. He showed that the consumption of meat, sugar, and in fact all high class foodstuffs, was
far greater in this country than in any other nation in the universe, our
people live better than those of any other country. He pointed out that with the system of protection now in operation, wages were kept at the high point. This meant that the factory, the mill, the foundry—in fact
all other lines of manufacturing endeavor were enabled to pay their
employees a sum sufficient to enable them to buy the best that the market
affords. This, in turn, means that the farmer and others who provide food-
stuffs, receive much higher returns
for their products than they would have if protection did not obtain in
the United States. The president pointed out that while he believed in taxing big corporations and people of
large wealth, he did not believe that they should be taxed to a point where they will remove either their
business or their capital to other countries where taxes are lower. He believed that a point could be reached where each and every industry in the United States, as well as
the individual, could be made to pay a proportionate and honest tax. The president's desire is that no one, be
he poor or rich, shall be taxed un-
justly, but that all shall bear their
honest and proportionate burden of the taxes. It is his desire that whenever possible, laws be enacted that will be of benefit to each and every
state and section of the United States.There is no denying the fact that Calvin Coolidge, during the time that he has been in office, has given much
study to the furthering of the welfare of the people of the United States. His speech showed that he is deeply concerned with all problems,
the solving of which will mean even
a better condition than we enjoy today.The speech of Calvin Coolidge was not an oratorical effort; it was not what one would expect to hear from
a gifted orator, but it was the honest, straight-forward statement of a man who has demonstrated to the people of the nation that he is honestly concerned with the welfare of
every man, woman and child in the United States. His address was one that rang true; it came from the
heart; it was the statement of a conscientious, clean-thinking, honest
statesman, who believes in the people of the nation. It came from a man who believes that our people
want to maintain our high ideals, honesty of purpose and the other attributes that have made us today
what we are, a United States; a country where right and justice and common sense will prevail.

Difference Which Foot Shoe's On

(Toledo, Blade)

What amounts to a "slush fund" to one party is a legitimate campaign
expense to the other party.IF the sinking of the dismantled Washington under navy bombs
or gunfire was to prove anything more than that bombers and gunners can hit the mark, it might be conceded as worth while. But it will not.In tests already made, in which certain of our own obsolete ships
and others of the surrendered German fleet were used as targets, the
ability of aerial bombs to wreck
and send to the bottom the most
staunchly built battleships was
proven to the satisfaction of all the experts.Likewise the ability of modern projectiles to penetrate the heav-
est armorplate with which a ship
can be burdened was demonstrated.
The proposed tests will add nothing
to knowledge already gained
on these subjects.NAVY officials and Navy League enthusiasts, however, insist
that the sinking of the Washington as scheduled is most important.And from their viewpoint, rather than the viewpoint of the average
taxpayer, that doubtless will be true.The "demonstration" will come shortly after Congress reconvenes,
when the new navy appropriation
bill will be in the early stages of consideration in committee.The "attack" on the Washington and her destruction by bombs and gunfire will be spectacular. It will make good pictures and good
"copy." It will bring the navy and the navy program much publicity.No such attention, of course, would be paid to battleships scored
on a canvas target or to bombs dropped on an outlined battleship.Because of the publicity and interest attending the actual sinking
of an actual ship, instead of the
registering of equally good hits
otherwise, the maneuvers are expected to be worth many millions
of dollars to the navy in increased appropriations.But they will not help bring down the price of steel or structural materials. Nor will this scheduled feature add either to our
national safety, economy or common sense!The rum'ring which causes the most investigation is that left by a glass of home-made wine on mother's tablecloth.In Boston, three men stayed drunk three days after they were jailed, showing wishes do come true.In Sioux Falls, S. D., a man of 88 has just seen his first movie, but maybe it won't corrupt his morals.The wild rumor that packers, who use everything about hogs except the squeal, will make whistles of the squeal, is without foundation.Our idea of a catastrophe is a football hero with arms so sore he can't hug a woman.In Atlanta, Ga., three men who thought they were eating mushrooms should serve as a warning to others.Once mushrooms were the most dangerous things in cellars. That was back, before prohibition.A failure is merely a man who thought the worst things in life were the best things.The late chestnut has managed to secure the early bird's worm.

sense, and this is as true of Indiana as it is of other states in the union." Referring to taxation, he pointed out that 38.96 per cent of all taxes collected by the state is expended for the education of the youth of the state. He also emphasized the fact that 20.56 per cent of all the money raised in the state is expended in the construction and maintenance of good roads. Only 2.36 per cent of taxes is used for state administrative purposes, he pointed out. He also advocated an effective budget system.

Referring to state problems he said that the question of taxation should be considered as a business and not a political question. "The people are anxious for a reduction of taxes", he said. "It may be possible that this may be accomplished, but if it is it must be done by the co-operation of all the taxpayers, together with the officers, both state and local. It can only be done by retrenchment wherever retrenchment can be effected, and by the practice of the strictest economy at all times. Taxpayers must make less demands for the creating of obligations which made it necessary to levy and collect taxes to pay."

"This resolves itself very largely into a local question when we realize that only 9.71 per cent of all the taxes raised are controlled by the state, while 90.29 per cent of all taxes raised are controlled and expended by officers representing township, municipal and county governments."

He gave an accounting of his administration of the office of secretary of state and said that thousands of dollars have been saved to taxpayers through the employment of efficient persons in the various departments and the constant practice of the strictest economy. He said that the savings thus made have been more than enough to pay the salaries of all the employees of the various departments of the office including that of the secretary of state. He expressed the belief that an additional saving of $100,000 annually can be effected by the issuance of permanent automobile license plates.

In closing, Mr. Jackson asserted that if he were elected governor, he would be governor of all the people, regardless of religion, race, color or politics. He declared that his opponents had injected the religious and racial issue into the campaign in the hope that some voters would be guided by prejudice instead of their better judgment when they voted."

Cornet and Trombone Soloists Will Assist in Night Marine Band Concert

The Band by the Leader, Captain Santelmann. The two personalities as brought out by the clarinet and bassoon, depicting the man and woman in conversation both before and after the dance itself, are always attractive.

"Reminiscences of Tchaikowsky," by Godfrey, follows. This number is always favorably received, depicting as it does the most brilliant moods as well as the tender sympathy of the great Polish composer.

Again the "Star Spangled Banner" brings the concert to a close.

Leader Santelmann has always been noted as being a most liberal conductor in the matter of encores and there is no reason to believe that he will be any the less liberal on his appearance in this locality.

A description of the afternoon concert which will be entirely different from the evening program, was printed Friday. The appearance of the band is being sponsored by the Daily Republican for the benefit of the Rush County Child Welfare association and the Boy Scouts.

Scandal up to Judge Landis

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

Chicago, Oct. 25—Since another big baseball scandal popped up with the discovery that two members of the New York Giants had made overtures to another player to throw a game, some curiosity has arisen as to what baseball, as it is represented by the advisory board will do about it.

Some fear is being expressed that the heads of the game will prefer to let it die out rather than to press vigorously and give the fans more assurance than they have been given that it was a foolish move originated by Cozy Dolan and carried out by Jimmy O'Connell, and that other Giant players did not know that Heinie Sand was to be approached with an offer of $500 to throw a Philadelphia game to the Giants.

Under the conditions now it is entirely up to Commissioner Landis to do something that will restore public faith in a game that has not been entirely above suspicion since the White Sox showed in 1919 that all the players in baseball are not on the level.

Ban Johnson, American League member of the advisory council is an open and declared enemy of Landis and John A. Heydler, the National League member of the council, has already given all his information to the commissioner.

Landis was given the job of commissioner of baseball with unlimited power for the sole purpose of cleaning up baseball and making it clean. It seemed that he succeeded when he kept the White Sox crooks from being reinstated, but baseball was saved in that crisis not as much by

Smoke from the burning forests in the foothills of the Ozarks filled the navigating cabin as we sailed over southwest Arkansas.

Through the murk the flames eating the brush of the forests glowed through the gloom in strange figures of curves and loops. Eyes smarted from the pungent clouds floating upward and even higher than the ship.

The first accident of the voyage occurred just before casting off from the mooring mast at Fort Worth when the motor in the rear gondola kicked back and broke the wrist of C. H. Broom, aviation chief, machinists' mate, of Atlantic City. Broom is returning on the Shenandoah. Franklin Masters, aviation chief, rigger, Akron, O., who was left in the hospital at San Diego for an appendicitis operation on the outbound voyage, was doing well but was not able to accompany the ship when returned.

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST

OLD FOLKS AT HOME

By Stephen C. Foster (American) (1826-1864)

The songs, which most nearly fulfill the mission of folk-music in America, being loved and treasured throughout the land, are those of Stephen Collins Foster, of Southern descent, expressed in a deeply moving and poetic manner certain phases of American life which have gone never to return. His art, simple and true, was the reflex of his emotions and impressions of the world about him. He was never a learned composer, though he became a proficient pianist, and in very early years taught himself to play the flute and flageolet. He was great because of his inborn genius for melody, his sensitive perceptions, his innate tenderness and nobility of character. Foster's environment was unusually inspiring to song. He was born at Lawrenceville in the Allegheny hills, Pennsylvania, July 4, 1826. The tension of modern conditions had not as yet affected his community. There was time to dream as well as to do. In early days Foster listened much to the singing of the negroes, which strongly influenced his own music in later years. He was well educated, well informed on many topics, at ease and on equal terms with men of genius in other fields than his own. His life was a bitter romance. An unhappy marriage and other misfortunes drove him to dissipation, and after the death of his mother, whom he loved with all the intensity of his nature, he became more and more the victim of drink. Many of his songs composed in the morning, were sold in the evening for an hour's forgetfulness. His death was the result of an accident in a New York hotel, when he rose from his bed, weak with fever, and gashed his face and neck on a piece of broken glass. He died January 13, 1864. If he had erred, as Mr. Louis Elson has admirably remarked, "The light that led astray was light from heaven."

These songs had and have their place in the life of the American people, but the two songs in which Foster is greatest are undoubtedly "My Old Kentucky Home," said to have been inspired by a visit to the estate of an uncle in Kentucky and "Old Folks at Home," songs in which Foster touches a note so deep and so true that they would be welcomed and understood almost anywhere in the world, whatever the locality, whatever the tongue of the people. It has been remarked by authorities on the subject that no country has produced "composed folk-songs" which surpass in simple eloquence and beauty those of Foster.

Stephen Foster's brother, Morrison in his "Biography, Songs and Musical Compositions of Stephen C. Foster" tells of the composition of "Old Folks at Home" "One day in 1851, Stephen came into my office, on the bank of the Monongahela, Pittsburgh, and said to me, "What is a good name of two syllables for a Southern River? I want to use it in this new song of 'Old Folks at Home' I asked him how Yazzee would do. 'Oh', said he, 'that has been used before.' I then suggested Pedee. 'Oh pshaw!' he replied, 'I won't have that.' I then took down an atlas from the top of my desk and opened the map of the United States. We both looked over it and my finger stopped at the 'Swanee', a little river in Florida emptying into the Gulf of Mexico. 'That's it, that's it exactly,' exclaimed he, delighted, as he wrote the name down; and the song was finished, commencing 'Way down upon de Swanee Ribber.' He left the office, as was his custom, abruptly * * * and I resumed my work. Just at that time he received a letter from E. P. Christy (a noted 'negro minstrel' of the day) of New York, asking him if he would write a song for Christy, which the latter might sing before it was published. Stephen showed me the letter and asked what he should do. I said to him, 'Don't let him do it unless he pays you.' At his request I drew up a form of agreement for Christy to sign, stipulating to pay Stephen five hundred dollars for the privilege he asked. This was forwarded to Christy, and return mail brought it back duly signed by the latter. The song happened to be 'Old Folks at Home'—Such was the history of what is probably Foster's greatest song.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Mrs. Shaw Calls Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a God-Send to Sick Women

Cambridge, Maine.—"I suffered terribly with pains and soreness in my sides. Each month I had to go to bed, and the doctor told me I simply had to go under an operation before I could get help. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and I told my husband one day to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I took the third dose I felt better. I took it four times a day for two years, getting better all the time, and now for four years I don't have any pains. After taking the medicine for two years I had another child—a lovely baby girl now four years old—the life of our home. I do praise this medicine. It is a Godsend to women who suffer with female troubles and especially for pains at the periods. I surely was very bad once, and I know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation."—Mrs. JOSE M. SHAW, Route No. 1, Cambridge, Maine.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound reports 98 out of every 100, were benefited by it. For sale by druggists everywhere.

G. O. P. Nominee for Governor Declares for Tax Reduction, Religious Liberty and Budget System

Shows Saving of Money in Secretary of State's Office—Sees Victory for Party in State

Pledging himself to cooperate to the fullest in the development of a program for the betterment of conditions in agriculture and repeating his declarations for tax reduction, religious liberty, better roads and schools and an effective budget system, Ed Jackson, secretary of state and candidate for governor on the republican ticket, addressed a large audience at the Memorial park coliseum Friday evening.

His address preceded an automobile parade, lead by the New Salem band, from the court house to the coliseum. The candidate and his party were met at Manilla by a local reception committee and escorted to Rushville.

Clen Miller, county chairman, introduced George E. Neapress, a Pennsylvania conductor of Logansport, Ind., who entertained the crowd about fifteen minutes with campaign songs and a sketch he called the "Pumpkinvine Limited."

Mr. Miller also introduced Fred Bell, president of the Rush County Farm Bureau, who presided and introduced Mr. Jackson. Mr. Bell announced the appearance of the United States Marine band at the coliseum next Wednesday and urged everyone to attend, not alone because of the opportunity to hear the celebrated band, but because the proceeds above expenses will go to worthy organizations.

"This crowd is an indication of what the G. O. P. will do in the coming election," the county chairman said in opening the meeting. "It shows that the republicans have their heads set on victory and there does not now appear to be any doubt about the success of the ticket from the head on down to the last man. That's the way we republicans do things."

After announcing the coming of the U. S. Marine band and calling attention to the value of the work done by the Rush County Child Welfare association, to which three-fourths of the net receipts go, Mr. Bell spoke of the value of restoring to usefulness children who would become charges of the government and making them good citizens.

"There are too many people who do not respect that flag," he continued, pointing to a flag on the stage, "and I admire a man who will resign a public office and go to the front for its protection. The man who did this has not been found wanting as secretary of state, as the figures in his office will show. It was said of Abraham Lincoln that he was a man of the people and it may also be said of Ed Jackson, as was demonstrated in the primary when he received more votes than all of the candidates for the nomination against him."

"I am happy for the opportunity," declared Mr. Jackson, in opening his address, "to return to the splendid county of Rush and the city of Rushville and to be greeted by such an audience of people who have found it convenient to come out and hear the issues of the campaign discussed."

Referring to problems of the farmers of the state, Major Jackson said "everything possible must be done to restore this basic industry to a permanently profitable basis. I do not claim to know the exact solution of this great problem. I hope, if I am permitted to do so, to cooperate to the fullest extent in carrying out any plan or program that may be determined upon that gives reasonable promise of bringing about the desired results."

In opening his address, Major Jackson declared that President Coolidge has the full confidence of the people. "He stands steadfast for that which he believes to be right," he said. "He stands for the best interests of the country, and I am happy in the belief that we shall see a complete Republican victory in Indiana and in the nation. President Coolidge has declared that the people want a government of common

O. M. REPPERT IS SUED

Mineral Supply Company Files Action in Stech's Court

The Mineral Supply company of Washington C. H., Ohio, have filed suit in Justice Stech's court on two complaints against O. M. Reppert, who is alleged to be their local agent. One suit demands $78.60 and the other is for $147.39 judgment. The actions involve alleged transactions with the firm. The cases have been set for trial October 30, one being at 9 and the other at 10 a. m.

The evidence was heard by Justice Stech in the matter of Delos Baldridge against Ira Long, in which judgment was rendered on an account for $43.03 and costs. The affidavit filed with the suit alleged that the defendant had left his home in Arlington for the purpose of defrauding his creditors, and the court sustained the affidavit, and entered judgment by default.

SHENANDOAH IS SEEN OVER COUNTRY

Navy Dirigible, Enroute to Lakehurst N. J., From Pacific Coast, Sighted by Many People

HEADS EAST TOWARD DAYTON

Passes Over Southern and Eastern Edge of the County, Changing its Course Near Glenwood

(By United Press)

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 25—Local radio stations shortly before noon today picked up a message from the Shenandoah indicating that the big dirigible was near Springfield, Ohio, at 11:15 a. m. and Dayton, Ohio, at 11:45 a. m.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 25—The U. S. Naval dirigible Shenandoah passed over this city at 5:30 a. m., today, flying low. She was evidently shaping her course for Dayton above the Ohio river.

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 25—The navy dirigible Shenandoah is expected to arrive here this evening but probably will not land until after dark, it was said today, following a message from commander Landsdowne aboard the airship.

The navy dirigible Shenandoah, enroute to Lakehurst, New Jersey on the return trip from the Pacific coast, passed over southern and eastern Rush county this morning.

Many Rushville people got a good view of the sausage-shaped airship as it moved in a northeasterly direction south of Milroy, up over New Salem and Orange, and swinging straight east about the time it was in the vicinity of Glenwood.

The first word coming to Rushville regarding the appearance of the dirigible was in the form of a telephone message from D. C. Alter of Orange township, to the Daily Republican.

At the time Mr. Alter called, the Shenandoah was about over New Salem, traveling northeast.

It did not appear to be making very good time, but some Rushville men who started east in an automobile at the rate of 55 to 60 miles an hour, soon concluded that it must be traveling 65 or 75 miles an hour, as it gained on them. They had hopes of getting under the giant dirigible, but had to abandon them, especially when the Shenandoah swung straight east at Glenwood and began gaining on the automobile.

John Ed. Harrison, who lives three miles east of Milroy, said that the Shenandoah passed over his farm and that he could hear the hum of the motors plainly.

Mrs. John F. Ryan at Orange said that the dirigible also was seen over Orange very plainly and then it was heading towards Connersville.

The Shenandoah was due to pass over Dayton this morning and evidently was starting there when it changed its course east of here.

Dirigible Riding Smoothly

Aboard the U. S. N. Dirigible Shenandoah, Oct. 25—(Via Radio from United Press Correspondent)—Riding smoothly through the air, the dirigible Shenandoah passed over Arkansas, Kentucky, and Indiana,

THE NUTTIEST SEASON OF THE YEAR

Cornet and Trombone Soloists Will Assist in Night Marine Band Concert

Principal Musician Arthur S. Witcomb, With Organization 19 Years, And Principal Musician Robert E. Clark, Who Plays Trombone, Both Skilled and Talented Artists. Leader Santelema Most Liberal Conductor in Matter of Encores.

The evening concert of the United States Marine band at the Memorial Park coliseum next Wednesday night at 8 p. m. will be opened with the famous "Jubilee" overture by Weber, one of the best known compositions of its class, and one which taxes the band to the utmost in its interpretation. Anything written by Liszt must be accepted at its par value, but according to some musicians Liszt put a side of his nature not visible in his music such as the Hungarian Rhapsodies into his nocturnes that rank them high in the portrayal of the dreamy tendencies of the Master of the Piano. Therefore the next number, a nocturne by Liszt, entitled "Dream of Love" will be particularly interesting. The first soloist of the evening's entertainment will be Principal Musician Arthur S. Witcomb, probably the best known cornet soloist in this country today. He will play a number which will give him ample opportunity to show the wonderful capabilities of the cornet, as well as his own skill on the instrument—a polka brillante, "Willow Echoes," by Simon. Musician Witcomb has been with the Marine Band for a period of nineteen years and during that time has assisted at every notable demonstration held in the National Capital. Only recently, he journeyed to the last resting place of the young son of President Coolidge, where he sounded "taps" over the grave. Witcomb, before coming to the Marine Band, played in the world-famous Coldstream Guards, officiating at the funeral of Queen Victoria and at the coronation of King Edward VII. Musician Witcomb is regarded by competent critics as a master of his chosen instrument, with a remarkable purity of tone and accuracy of phrasing and execution. Just before the intermission Hosmer's "Ethiopian Rhapsody" will be offered.

Following the intermission the immortal composition of Leoncavallo, the Prologue to "Pagliacci" will be played. This number needs no introduction to musicians, and its beauty appeals to almost every taste in music. The second soloist on the program is Principal Musician Robert E. Clark, who ranks on the trombone with Witcomb on the cornet. The trombone has at times been compared with the cello as contrasted to the cornet with the violin, and Mr. Clark's accomplishments on this instrument enable him to bring out every one of its many perfections. He has been with the Marine Band for fourteen years and is well known as one of its prize soloists wherever the Band has formerly played. In the National Capital he is one of the favorite soloists. Mr. Clark is not only an instrumentalist, but he is also a composer as well, and on this occasion will play a number written by himself and entitled "May Blossoms." Those who expect to hear him may rest assured that they will have an opportunity for hearing the resources of the trombone as a solo instrument tested to their full capacity.

A number that is well known but at the same time ever new, is the Weber-Wingartner arrangement of the "Invitation to the Dance." The piece as played by the Marine Band is peculiarly adapted to a brass band, and was transcribed especially for (Continued on Page Five)

COMMITTEE WORKERS MEET MONDAY NIGHT

Major W. B. Sowers, State Commander of Salvation Army, Will Explain Local Campaign

LONG EXPERIENCE IN ARMY

Committee chairman and all of their workers are urged to be present at the court house assembly room Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock when the campaign to raise money to support the Salvation Army for the next twelve months, will get under way.

Major W. B. Sowers, of Indianapolis, state commander of the Army, who has general supervision over all of the corps in southern Indiana, will speak to the workers regarding the Salvation Army and supplies for the canvass will be provided.

Major Sowers has been an Army officer more than thirty years and is familiar with the organization. He took the regular training college work in Chicago and has been a corps officer and divisional officer.

It was announced today that Captain Earl Myers, who was recently placed in charge of the Rushville corps, had been required to give up the work for the present on account of illness. Envoys Ray Parsons has been assigned to Rushville and took up his duties today.

43 CHILDREN CARED FOR DURING THE YEAR

Rush County Child Welfare Association, Beneficiary of Bond Concert, Does Laudable Work

DEFECTIVE CHILDREN CURED

The Rush County Child Welfare association, to which three-fourths of the net receipts from the United States Marine Band concert will go, has been engaged in welfare work among underprivileged children for several years.

During the past year, forty-three defective children have been improved in health through the ministrations of the organization, which is constantly on duty, ready to find a way to cure children with defects which would probably make them charges of society when they grew up.

The association pays a physician to take a physical record of every child in the Rushville public schools, and has a representative in each township which goes into the schools and locates the children with defects, who have no prospect of being cured without outside aid.

Members of the association go to the homes of defective children to seek the consent of parents before any preparations are made to affect a cure. In many instances, they find that parents are opposed to surgical operations and even object to glasses being placed on their children, against the advice of physicians and optometrists.

The forty-three children who have been given treatment and operations during the past year include tonsillectomy, denistry, hernia, special nurses and treatment in the Oliver clinic at the Robert Long hospital, Indianapolis.

One child is taken to Indianapolis on the average of once a month for treatment for double curvature of the spine. Several are also taken to an anti-syphilis clinic for treatment.

The association has found homes for approximately two dozen children during the past year. There are nine waiting now for tonsil operations.

SPEAKS TO COAL MINERS

Jasonville, Ind., Oct. 25—Campaigning in the coal mining district of Indianapolis to prevent defection of laboring votes to the Lafolette ticket, Charles W. Bryan, Democratic vice presidential nominee, last night told coal miners here that the Democratic party is the only one to which they can look for reform.

Modern Woodmen Arrange For Initiation and Rabbit Supper

An interesting meeting was held Thursday night by the local modern woodman camp, at the Modern Woodmen hall, at which it was decided to hold a class adoption on Thursday night, Dec. 4, to be followed by a big rabbit supper.

At the meeting 4 applications for membership were accepted by the camp. They were secured by Ralph Harrold, special deputy who is organizing the class, and who asks that any member who has a prospect to get into communication with him.

Different locations for a home were discussed at the meeting and it is expected several propositions will be submitted to the camp in the near future in this matter.

UNABLE TO AGREE IN SUIT FOR $25

Jury Disagrees in Case of John F. Joyce Against Chester M. George and is Discharged

Albert Ficklin Files Suit Against Earl Young, Demanding $750 Judgment on a Note

The jury in the circuit court Friday was deadlocked in their verdict in the case of John F. Joyce against Chester M. George, and after being unable to agree, they were discharged late Friday night.

The case was tried once before in Justice Stech's court, and a verdict for $25 rendered the plaintiff for attorney fees in a former litigation. The defendant appealed the case to the circuit court, where it was again heard yesterday before a jury.

Albert Ficklin has filed suit against Earl Young and Elsie Young, demanding judgment for $750 on a note and for the appointment of a receiver. The parties reside in the vicinity of Glenwood, and the action alleges that the defendants are insolvent, and that a receiver should be appointed to manage their business.

A few court matters are set for hearing Monday, and included in the court business for next week are several matters pending in probate cases involving reports and settlements of estate and guardianships.

There was little business scheduled today in court. The jury used yesterday will probably not be used again this term of court, which ends November 8.

Orie Blackburn, chief of police, has filed suit in circuit court against Sanford Heaton, asking that a guardian be appointed for the defendant. The action was taken by the police officer upon numerous complaints of people who demanded that some action be taken to watch after the interests of the defendant, who is charged in the petition with being incapable of managing his affairs.

Questions to be Answered At M. E. Church Sunday Night

In the prelude to sermon at the St. Paul's M. E. church Sunday evening the following questions will be answered:

Who are the "wets" in the list of candidates for the coming election?

You spoke of "personality" in your sermon last Sunday evening, will you please define the term?

Why do girls leave home?

Is it wise to follow the fashions?

Has dress any relation to character and conduct?

There will be special music. Miss Beulah Phillips will sing. The topic of the sermon will be "The Girl in Society versus the Society Girl."

CONDEMNS DISHONESTY

Paoli, Ind., Oct. 25—Dishonesty in public office, whether by Republican or Democratic incumbents, was severely denounced by Former Senator Beveridge here last night. "The Democratic party would make you believe it has a monopoly on the public virtues as a result of the oil scandal in Washington," Beveridge said. "No party has a corner on all the scoundrels."

CONGREGATION AT HANNEGAN HOST

Christian Churches of the County Will Meet There in all Day Session Thursday

SEVERAL SPEAKERS ENGAGED

Eastern District of Which Local Churches Belong, Are in Charge of V. P. Brock, Newcastle

The county conference for the Christian churches of Rush county will be held next Thursday at the Hannegan Christian church near Sexton, it was announced today, and a corps of speakers will be here.

This county is in the eastern district of which V. P. Brock of Newcastle is the evangelist. George C. Wyatt of this city is president of the county church organization.

The meetings have been scheduled in every county in this district for next week. The conferences are made inspirational, instructive and helpful in every way possible. Time will be given for music and for the young people's interest. A great evangelistic program will be planned for the coming year.

The speakers at the conference next Thursday at Hannegan will be Ben Holmrode of China, G. I. Hoover of Indianapolis, Mrs. O. H. Griest of Winchester, Miss Florence Carmichael of Indianapolis, and V. P. Brock of Newcastle.

The program will be divided into an all day affair, beginning in the morning, and continuing throughout the afternoon and night, with a basket dinner at noon.

One of the speakers will have for the subject, "The Great Commission", and another discussion will be made by the board of education on "Christian Education."

Other subjects will be taken up, and it is expected that the principal address at night will be by Ben Hovroyed of China, who will speak on the missionary country and conditions in China. A complete program and other matters of interest pertaining to the conference are being prepared, and will be announced next week.

PYTHIANS TO DISCUSS STATE HOME PROJECT

Roll Call Meeting Monday Night Will Afford Opportunity Time to Explain K. of P. Home

RUSHVILLE BIDS FOR IT

The plan of establishing an Indiana Pythian home will be explained Monday night to the membership of Ivy lodge, Knights of Pythias, and special invitations have been sent to all members urging them to attend the meeting, which also will be the annual roll call for the Rushville lodge.

On account of the roll call meeting, at which time it is expected that a large representation of the lodge will be there, it was decided also to be a good time to explain the plans for the state home, and the possibilities of locating it in Rushville.

The lodge at the state convention held recently at Indianapolis voted to locate a home someplace within the state. The home will house orphans of deceased Knights of Pythias, and also be a home for aged members who have no other means of livelihood.

A committee was appointed at the convention to secure a location for the state home, and report next October. In the meantime the project of locating the home in Rushville will go forward, and for this reason, it is important that all of the lodge members turn out Monday night for the roll call meeting. A smoker and light refreshments will be served, it was announced.

Minnervolls Spring bran $24.50, spring middlings $26.50; 34 percent linseed meal $45. Chicago gluten feed $40.80; yellow hominy feed $38.50. Memphis 36 percent cottonseed meal $36.50. Sixty percent digester feeding tankage at various markets $60.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Weakness in butter markets earlier in week gave way to a firmer feeling at the close. Principal support confined to fancy grades, with medium and undergrades no more than steady. Storage situation continued to be an important influence. Production holding up remarkably well. Foreign markets lower. Exports light. Closing wholesale prices on 92

score butter: NY 38; Chicago 37; Boston 37; Philadelphia 38. Cheese markets developed a somewhat unsettled feeling during the week and prices declined half to one cent. There appears to be a tendency toward an increase in storage surplus since the first of the month as a result of slow business. This together with heavy fall production, and the influence of an unsettled butter market has offered little basis for confidence. Wholesale prices at Wisconsin primary markets October 23: Twins 18; single daisies 17; young Americas 18; Longhorns 18; square prints 19.

COTTON—Average price of middling spot cotton in 10 designated markets advanced one point during the week, closing at 22.39c per pound.

Prayer for Wisdom:—So
teach us to number our days,
that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom. Psalm 90: 12.

Prayer:—O Lord, our days

look to Thee, and the fear of the Lord is the crying of wisdom.

Faith in the People

President Coolidge, in his last
speech of the campaign which will
be broadcast throughout the nation,
demonstrated again that he has faith
in the people of the United States;
that he believes in their Americanism
and their devotion to the highest
ideals of government, and that he is
willing to rest his case with them
on the record of the administration.

He placed before the people of the country his plans for the future of
the nation. He described in direct,
honest language his desire that the
peoples of the world might live in
peace and harmony; that they might
turn from the pursuit of war to a
course that would bring the greatest good to the universe.

In the matter of economy, President Coolidge emphasized the necessity for economy in the expenditure
of the people's money and pledged
himself to continue the path he had entered upon when he became president, namely that of saving the money of the taxpayer.

President Coolidge has been the
only president in the history of the
nation that forced a portion of the
taxes to be given back to the tax-
payer, and he stated in terms which
could not be misunderstood that a
further reduction of taxes may be
had if the present plan of economy in
public expenditures and the present rate of income continues.

The president dwelt at length upon the benefits of protection, showing
how it was the direct cause of maintaining a far higher rate of wages in
this country than in Europe. He pointed out that under our system of
protection, every man, woman and
child in this country today is blessed
with a far higher standard of living

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY E. HUNT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Now would seem to be a bad time
for the practice of that
"economy" and "common sense" in government which one hears up
much about but sees so little of here in Washington.

Tied up at the Philadelphia
Navy Yard is the partially completed dreadnaught Washington, one
of the largest and most costly ships
ever laid down by the United States navy.

A fighting ship of 32,000 tons
designed to carry eight 16-inch
guns, some $20,000,000 were spent
on her before the conference on
limitation of armament listed her,
because incomplete, among the
vessels to be scrapped by Uncle Sam.

Now it is announced that the Washington is to be sent to a wa-
tery grave off the Virginia capes in December at the annual navy
maneuvers and target practice.

She will be used as a thing to
drop bombs on, a mark for gun-
ners to fire at, until she fills with brine and goes down.

WHILE Uncle Sam is permitting the navy to use this
great hulk, containing thousands of tons of steel and materials
that would repay many times the
cost of salvaging, even for sale as scrap, as a target for a foreigner's
"demonstration," the British government, also following a policy of
"economy," is spending hundreds
of thousands of dollars in raising
the German warships sunk off Skapa Flow in order that the materials in them may be salvaged.

One or the other of the two governments must be "out of step"
with the economy tune. If it is worth the British government's
while to raise, at great expense,
the hulks of the scuttled German
fleet for the materials they contain, certainly the thorough salvag-
ing of a ship already tied up beside
a construction pier ought to yield equal savings.

than the peoples of the other nations
of the world. He showed that the
consumption of meat, sugar, and in
fact all high class foodstuffs, was
far greater in this country than in
any other nation in the universe, our
people live better than those of any other country. He pointed out that
with the system of protection now in
operation, wages were kept at the
high point. This meant that the factory, the mill, the foundry—in fact
all other lines of manufacturing endeavor were enabled to pay their
employees a sum sufficient to enable
them to buy the best that the market
affords. This, in turn, means that the farmer and others who provide food-
stuffs, receive much higher returns
for their products than they would
have if protection did not obtain in
the United States. The president
pointed out that while he believed in
taxing big corporations and people of
large wealth, he did not believe that
they should be taxed to a point
where they will remove either their
business or their capital to other countries where taxes are lower. He believed that a point could be
reached where each and every industry in the United States, as well as
the individual, could be made to pay
a proportionate and honest tax. The
president's desire is that no one, be
he poor or rich, shall be taxed un-
justly, but that all shall bear their
honest and proportionate burden of
the taxes. It is his desire that whenever possible, laws be enacted that
state and section of the United States.

There is no denying the fact that Calvin Coolidge, during the time that
he has been in office, has given much
study to the furthering of the welfare of the people of the United States. His speech showed that he is
deeply concerned with all problems,
the solving of which will mean even
a better condition than we enjoy today.

The speech of Calvin Coolidge was not an oratorical effort; it was not
what one would expect to hear from a gifted orator, but it was the honest, straight-forward statement of a man who has demonstrated to the
people of the nation that he is honestly concerned with the welfare of
every man, woman and child in the United States. His address was one
that rang true; it came from the
heart; it was the statement of a conscientious, clean-thinking, honest
statesman, who believes in the people of the nation. It came from a man who believes that our people
want to maintain our high ideals,
honesty of purpose and the other at-
tributes that have made us today
what we are, a United States; a country where right and justice and common sense will prevail.

Difference Which Feet Shoe's On
(Toledo Blade)
What amounts to a "rush fund" to
one party is a legitimate campaign
expense to the other party.

If the sinking of the dismantled
Washington under navy bombs
or gunfire was to prove any-
thing more than that bombers and
gunners can hit the mark, it might
be conceded as worth while. But it will not.

In tests already made in which
certain of our own obsolete ships
and others of the surrendered German fleet were used as targets, the
ability of aerial bombs to wreck
and send to the bottom the most
staunchly built battleships was
proven to the satisfaction of all the experts.

Likewise the ability of modern
projectiles to penetrate the heav-
est armorplate with which a ship
can be burdened was demonstrated.

The proposed tests will add nothing
to knowledge already gained
on these subjects.

NAVY officials and Navy League
enthusiasts, however, insist
that the sinking of the Washington as scheduled is most important.

And from their viewpoint, rather
than the viewpoint of the average
taxpayer, that doubtless will be true.

The "demonstration" will come
shortly after Congress reconvenes,
when the new navy appropriation
bill will be in the early stages of consideration in committee.

The "attack" on the Washington
and her destruction by bombs and
gunfire will be spectacular. It will make good pictures and good
"copy." It will bring the navy and the navy program much publicity.

No such attention, of course,
would be paid to battleships scored
on a canvas target or to bombs
dropped on an outlined battleship.

Because of the publicity and interest attending the actual sinking
of an actual ship, instead of the
registering of equally good hits
otherwise, the maneuvers are expected to be worth many millions
of dollars to the navy in increased appropriations.

But they will not help bring
down the price of steel or structural materials. Nor will this
scheduled feature add either to our
national safety, economy or common sense.

The Hodge-Podge

By a Paragon with a Pen

There may not be as many stumps as there once were, but the supply of stumpers seems inexhaustible.

The telephone operators of Bombay have to speak six languages.
American operators think one language is illuminating enough for them.

An explorer has concluded that the cave man's wife weiled the big stick.
In that case, she probably decided how she would wear her hair.

Indolence and indifference are first companions to dry rot.

The poorhouse is a vanishing institution, according to statistics.
That is because those who drink the stump they make now need only the services of an undertaker.

The Chinese of the big cities have been having long wars, which didn't start over the right to manufacture mah jong sets.

Hard work is one way to profit and making the most of mistakes is another.

sense, and this is as true of Indiana as it is of other states in the union." Referring to taxation, he pointed out that 38.96 per cent of all taxes collected by the state is expended for the education of the youth of the state. He also emphasized the fact that 20.56 per cent of all the money raised in the state is expended in the construction and maintenance of good roads. Only 2.36 per cent of taxes is used for state administrative purposes, he pointed out. He also advocated an effective budget system.

Referring to state problems he said that the question of taxation should be considered as a business and not a political question. "The people are anxious for a reduction of taxes", he said. "It may be possible that this may be accomplished, but if it is it must be done by the co-operation of all the taxpayers, together with the officers, both state and local. It can only be done by retrenchment wherever retrenchment can be effected, and by the practice of the strictest economy at all times. Taxpayers must make less demands for the creating of obligations which made it necessary to levy and collect taxes to pay."

"This resolves itself very largely into a local question when we realize that only 9.71 per cent of all the taxes raised are controlled by the state, while 90.29 per cent of all taxes raised are controlled and expended by officers representing township, municipal and county governments."

He gave an accounting of his administration of the office of secretary of state and said that thousands of dollars have been saved to taxpayers through the employment of efficient persons in the various departments and the constant practice of the strictest economy. He said that the savings thus made have been more than enough to pay the salaries of all the employees of the various departments of the office including that of the secretary of state. He expressed the belief that an additional saving of $100,000 annually can be effected by the issuance of permanent automobile license plates.

In closing, Mr. Jackson asserted that if he were elected governor, he would be governor of all the people, regardless of religion, race, color or politics. He declared that his opponents had injected the religious and racial issue into the campaign in the hope that some voters would be guided by prejudice instead of their better judgment when they voted.

The Band by the Leader, Captain Santelmann. The two personalities as brought out by the clarinet and bassoon, depicting the man and woman in conversation both before and after the dance itself, are always attractive.

"Reminiscences of Tchaikowsky," by Godfrey, follows. This number is always favorably received, depicting as it does the most brilliant moods as well as the tender sympathy of the great Polish composer.

Again the "Star Spangled Banner" brings the concert to a close.

Leader Santelmann has always been noted as being a most liberal conductor in the matter of encores and there is no reason to believe that he will be any the less liberal on his appearance in this locality.

A description of the afternoon concert which will be entirely different from the evening program, was printed Friday. The appearance of the band is being sponsored by the Daily Republican for the benefit of the Rush County Child Welfare association and the Boy Scouts.

(United Press Sports Editor)

Chicago, Oct. 25—Since another big baseball scandal popped up with the discovery that two members of the New York Giants had made overtures to another player to throw a game, some curiosity has arisen as to what baseball, as it is represented by the advisory board will do about it.

Some fear is being expressed that the heads of the game will prefer to let it die out rather than to press vigorously and give the fans more assurance than they have been given that it was a foolish move originated by Cozy Dolan and carried out by Jimmy O'Connell, and that other giant players did not know that Heinie Sand was to be approached with an offer of $500 to throw a Philadelphia game to the Giants.

Under the conditions now it is entirely up to Commissioner Landis to do something that will restore public faith in a game that has not been entirely above suspicion since the White Sox showed in 1919 that all the players in baseball are not on the level.

Ban Johnson, American League member of the advisory council is an open and declared enemy of Landis and John A. Heydler, the National League member of the council, has already given all his information to the commissioner.

Landis was given the job of commissioner of baseball with unlimited power for the sole purpose of cleaning out baseball and making it clean. It seemed that he succeeded when he kept the White Sox crooks from being reinstated, but baseball was saved in that crisis not as much by

Landis as it was by Babe Ruth, who came along with a home run craze and turned conversation away from the scandal.

Some things were brought out in the testimony at Joe Jackson's suit for back salary that indicated that some of the big officials of the game knew more about the crooked world's series than they admitted when they were firing at statements: "Bah! No such a thing is possible in baseball!" This time when the Dolan-O'Connell thing threatened to ruin the game, the bright minds of the game did not remark how terrible it was or how crooked but they raved about "the foolishness of such a stupid act."

New York—Abe Goldstein was offered $25,000 as his end of the purse, win, lose, or draw to risk his world's bantamweight title against Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion, in a contest to be held at Madison Square Garden.

and was expected to pass over Ohio early today on the last lap of her record breaking 10,000 mile cruise.

Smoke from the burning forests in the foothills of the Ozarks filled the navigating cabin as we sailed over southwest Arkansas.

Through the smoky flames eating the brush of the forests glowed through the gloom in strange figures of curves and loops. Eyes smarted from the pungent clouds floating upward and even higher than the ship.

The first accident of the voyage occurred just before casting off from the mooring mast at Fort Worth when the motor in the rear gondola kicked back and broke the wrist of C. H. Broom, aviation chief, machinists' mate, of Atlantic City. Broom is returning on the Shenandoah. Franklin Masters, aviation chief, rigger, Akron, O., who was left in the hospital at San Diego for an appendicitis operation on the outbound voyage, was doing well but was not able to accompany the ship when returned.

By Stephen C. Foster (American) (1826-1864)

The songs, which most nearly fulfill the mission of folk-music in America, being loved and treasured throughout the land, are those of Stephen Collins Foster, of Southern descent, expressed in a deeply moving and poetic manner certain phases of American life which have gone never to return. His art, simple and true, was the reflex of his emotions and impressions of the world about him. He was never a learned composer, though he became a proficient pianist, and in very early years taught himself to play the flute and flageolet. He was great because of his inborn genius for melody, his sensitive perceptions, his innate tenderness and nobility of character. Foster's environment was unusually inspiring to song. He was born at Lawrenceville in the Allegheny hills, Pennsylvania, July 4, 1826. The tension of modern conditions had not as yet affected his community. There was time to dream as well as to do. In early days Foster listened much to the singing of the negroes, which strongly influenced his own music in later years. He was well educated, well informed on many topics, at ease and on equal terms with men of genius in other fields than his own. His life was a bitter romance. An unhappy marriage and other misfortunes drove him to dissipation, and after the death of his mother, whom he loved with all the intensity of his nature, he became more and more the victim of drink. Many of his songs composed in the morning, were sold in the evening for an hour's forgetfulness. His death was the result of an accident in a New York hotel, when he rose from his bed, weak with fever, and gashed his face and neck on a piece of broken glass. He died January 13, 1864. If he had erred, as Mr. Louis Elson has admirably remarked, "The light that led astray was light from heaven."

These songs had and have their place in the life of the American people, but the two songs in which Foster is greatest are undoubtedly "My Old Kentucky Home," said to have been inspired by a visit to the estate of an uncle in Kentucky and "Old Folks at Home," songs in which Foster touches a note so deep and so true that they would be welcomed and understood almost anywhere in the world, whatever the locality, whatever the tongue of the people. It has been remarked by authorities on the subject that no country has produced "composed folk-songs" which surpass in simple eloquence and beauty those of Foster.

bank of the Monongahela, Pittsburgh, and said to me, 'What is a good name of two syllables for a Southern River? I want to use it in this new song of "Old Folks at Home" I asked him how Yazzee would do. "Oh," said he, 'that has been used before.' I then suggested Pedee. "Oh pshaw!" he replied, 'I won't have that.' I then took down an atlas from the top of my desk and opened the map of the United States. We both looked over it and my finger stopped at the "Swanee," a little river in Florida emptying into the Gulf of Mexico. "That's it, that's it exactly," exclaimed he, delighted, as he wrote the name down; and the song was finished, commencing "Way down upon de Swanee Ribber." He left the office, as was his custom, abruptly, and I resumed my work. Just at that time he received a letter from E. P. Christy (a noted "negro minstrel" of the day) of New York, asking him if he would write a song for Christy, which the latter might sing before it was published. Stephen showed me the letter and asked what he should do. I said to him, 'Don't let him do it unless he pays you.' At his request I drew up a form of agreement for Christy to sign, stipulating to pay Stephen five hundred dollars for the privilege he asked. This was forwarded to Christ, and return mail brought it back duly signed by the latter. The song happened to be "Old Folks at Home." Such was the history of what is probably Foster's greatest song.

Mrs. Shaw Calls Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a God-Send to Sick Women

Cambridge, Maine.—"I suffered terribly with pains and soreness in my sides. Each month I had to go to bed, and the doctor told me I simply had to go under an operation before I could get help. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and I told my husband one day to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I took the third dose I felt better. I took it four times a day for two years, getting better all the time, and now for four years I don't have any pains. After taking the medicine for two years I had another child—a lovely baby girl now four years old—the life of our home. I do praise this medicine. It is a godsend to women who suffer with female troubles and especially for pains at the periods. I surely was very bad once, and I know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation." —Mrs. JOSIE M. SHAW, Route No. 1, Cambridge, Maine.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound reports 98 out of every 100 were benefited by it. 1 or 2 sold by druggists everywhere.
